DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings were received on 8/3/2005. These drawings are accepted.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 35-40 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lerner et al (US 4,412,876) in view of Waterman (US 4,446,616).

In regard to claims 35-37, Lerner discloses the invention substantially as claimed including a mandrel 60, which opens a continuous tube of labels 11, roller 80 and 84 for advancing the tube, severing mechanism 66, sleeve adding arrangement comprised of first and second holding and releasing portion 272, for positioning the sleeve on the container 32 and releasing the sleeve around the container (see Figs. 1,3,4,7,8 and C3,L61 - C9,L11). What Lerner does not disclose is the explicit use of an adjustment mechanism, which adjusts the distance of the first and second holding portions. However, Waterman teaches that it is old and well known in the art to provide an adjustment mechanism for first and second holding portions 79 and 81, which is connected to adjustable brackets 86 and 87, and screws 88 and 89 which allow the user to adjust the horizontal distance between holding portions for the purpose of accommodating different sized bottles with different sized diameters (see Figs.1,10 and C2,L61 – C3,L2).

Furthermore, while Waterman is silent on the different sized diameters of the wrapping material, the examiner asserts that it is inherent in the teaching of Waterman as well as obvious that a different sized container, comprised of a different diameter, whether larger or smaller than a previous product line, would utilize a different sized diameter label.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have provided the invention of Lerner with the adjustment mechanism as taught by Waterman for the purpose of accommodating different sized bottles with different sized diameters.

In regard to claims 38-40, the modified invention of Lerner discloses the invention substantially as claimed as applied to claims 35 and 36 except for the use of independently adjusting members. However, Waterman teaches that it is old and well known in the art to provide an adjustment mechanism, which are independently adjustable and comprised adjustable brackets, which also functions as a stop for screws 86 and 87, and screws 88 and 89 which allow the user to independently adjust the horizontal distance between holding portions for the purpose of accommodating different sized bottles with different sized diameters.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have provided the invention of Lerner with the adjustment mechanism as taught by Waterman for the purpose of accommodating different sized bottles with different sized diameters.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 10-13 and 30-34 are allowed.
5. Claims 41-44 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 35-40 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action..
